Ishi's Untold Story is a remarkable California Indians' story, introducing Yahi words and photographs of Ishi's ancestral homeland, thus giving readers a broader, deeper view of what was this man's past and why a better understanding of Ishi's life-challenges succeeds in introducing in the 21st Century, a new recognition of him as what we moderns are.

Richard Burrill is an author and anthropology educator and presenter in northern California. He is an enthusiastic teacher of American culture and archaeology. Richard established the annual Ishi Seminar, a group-study project. He plans to lead travel adventures and to continue his writings.
